

Analysis of IMDB and Netflix Movie Ratings

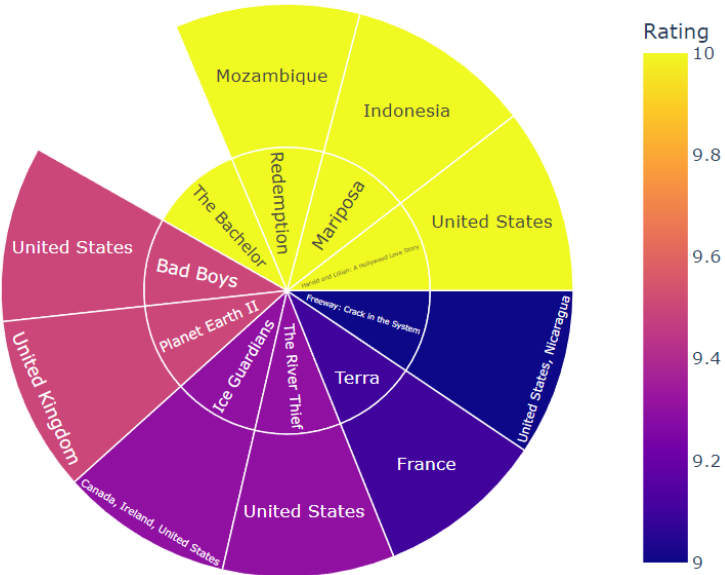

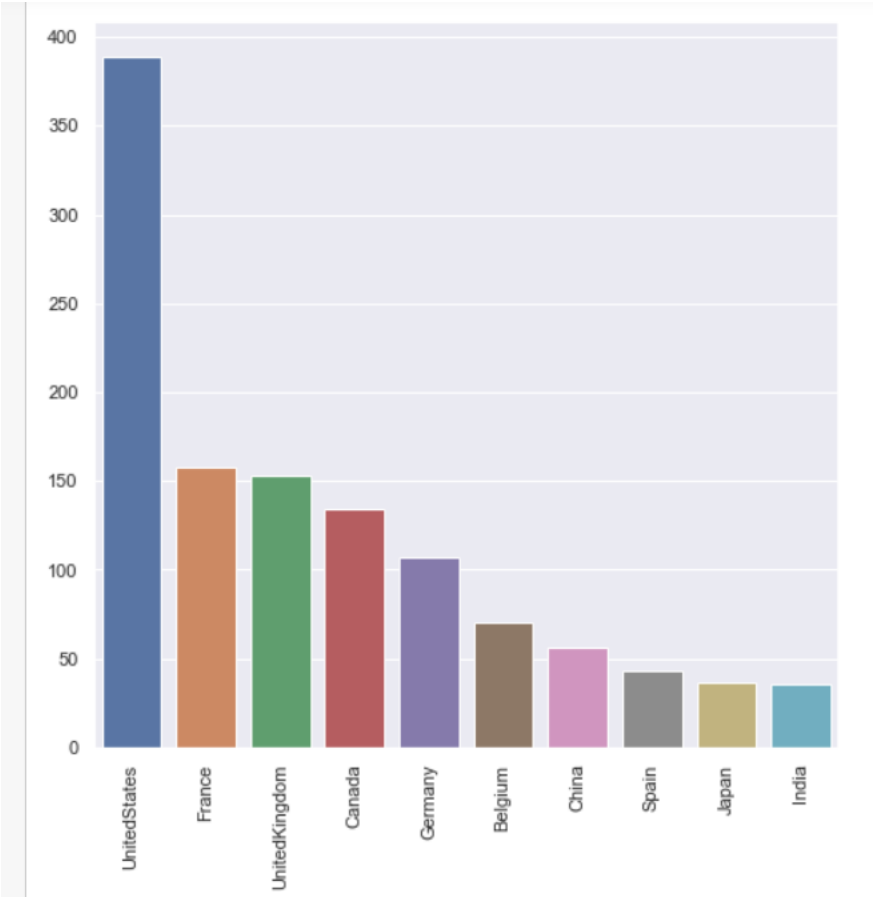

The most popular streaming service Netflix has over 6,000 movies and less than 3,000 tv series in its catalog.

Overall the most common rating for Netflix programs is TV-MA, content rated for mature audiences. The most common rating for movies is R.

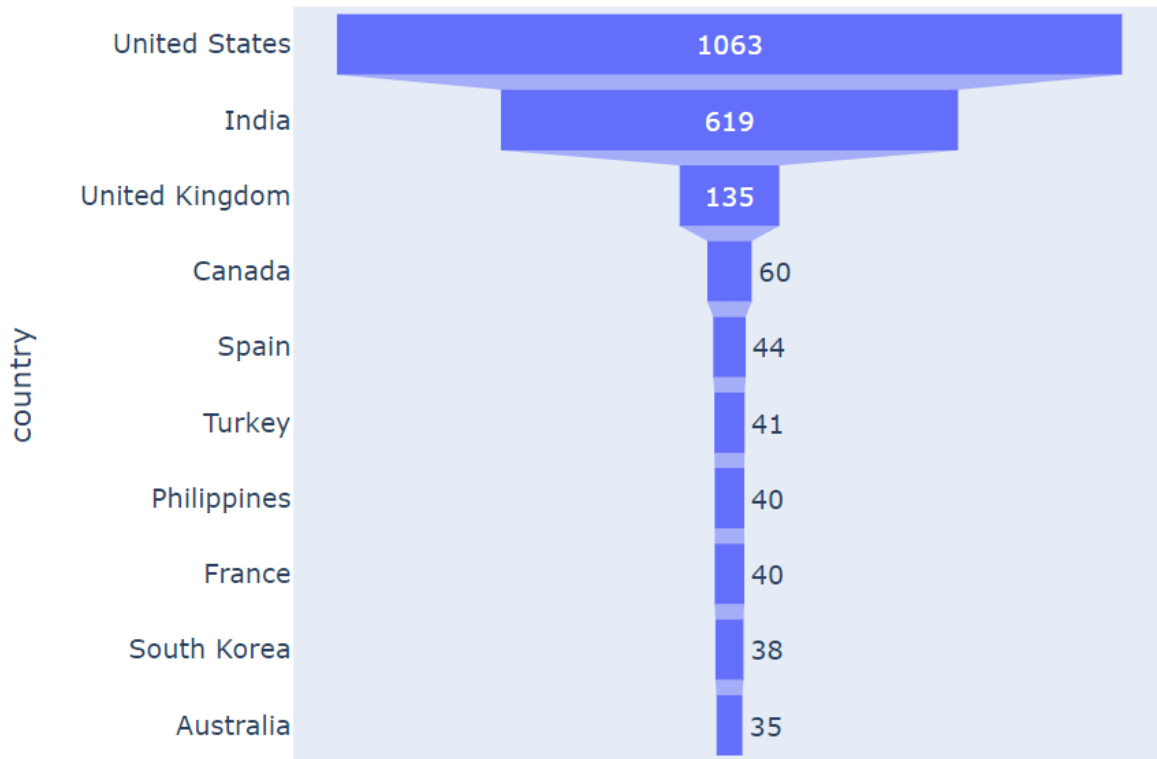

The highest viewer rated series are released by the United States followed by France and the United Kingdom.

The United States, India, and the United Kingdom are the top three creators of content for Netflix.

Number of Releases

Overall, the United States creates the most content and gets the highest ratings, though it is interesting to note that features from the United Kingdom are fewer but more frequently highly rated.

Although India and China have larger pools of potential voters than the United States and the United Kingdom their movies are rated lower than English speaking movies and series, indicating perhaps more western viewers rate movies on IMDB and Netflix and the data collected reflects western perspectives.
